

Declaration on ethics and good practices for publication in Montalbán, history magazine

MONTALBÁN, History Magazine, assumes a firm commitment to the scientific community in order to be a faithful guarantor of the correct practices of a publication under ethical criteria and quality of the published documents. The journal has as a basis and reference of such practices the Code of Conduct and Good Practices defined by the Committee on Ethics in Publications (COPE) for editors of scientific journals. Likewise, it is responsible for offering answers adjusted to the needs of readers and authors.
